Malcolm Has New Name In Arabia

Muslim leader Malcolm X has received a new name and has been the guest of Crown Prince Faisal, of Arabia, during his current pilgrimage to Mecca, he revealed to the Amsterdam News in a letter this week.

Malcolm, whose new name is El-Hajj Malik El Shabazz, said that as a state guest he has had a private car and chauffeur, religious guide, and other honors. "Never before have I been so highly honored," he exclaimed.

Malcolm said he believes he is one of three Americans who have made the actual pilgrimage to Mecca during the Hajj season, and had high praises of his visit.

Malcolm, who opened his own Muslim Mosque, Inc., earlier this year after splitting with Elijah Muhammad, said he hopes to visit Egypt, Sudan, Kenya, Tanganyika, Zanzibar, Nigeria, Ghana and Algeria before returning to New York on May 30.

Ironically, Malcolm's friend, Cassius Clay, who prefers to be called Muhammad Ali, told this newspaper he would leave New York next week for a six-weeks tour of Africa "to see and talk with persons who want to be my equals in Africa."

Queens DA Cites Malcolm's Speech

Queens District Attorney Frank D. O'Connor told the Amsterdam News Wednesday that his office is "watching statements and actions by Malcolm X very closely" to see if he has any links with recent racial violence in New York City.

"I have assigned the matter to one of our divisions to investigate, but I cannot say at this time there is a full blown investigation.

"At the present time we cannot say that he has made any statements in Queens County which have been of the variety to cause any major incitement like those in Manhattan. I have a very keen interest however, and will continue following this matter personally as situations develop."

The district attorney of Queens County attempted this week to link the speeches of Muslim leader Malcolm X with the knife slaying of a white woman merchant in Harlem. The woman's husband who was also knifed at the same time, is in critical condition, at Physicians Hospital in Jackson Heights, Queens.

District Attorney Frank D. O'Connor, in whose county both Malcolm X and the two slain victims live, was asked to comment on reports published in the daily press that Negro youth have been roaming Harlem streets trained by Muslims to attack white people.

O'Connor said he did not know any such activity in Queens. He added, "But I think all of us will remember a speech that was made by Malcolm X some time ago where he concluded 'E' — and this was before a large mass meeting in Harlem, and I don't—I'm not quoting him now, but in substance or in effect he said that we don't need law, what we need is the dark of night and a sharp edge.

This, I think, was a direct incentive to violence, to this kind of thing that happened up in Harlem, which involved, incidentally, two people who resided in my county.

A Letter From Malcolm X

Malcolm X has found some white people he likes.

The Negro leader, who defected from the white-rejecting Black Muslim movement to start a black nationalist organization of his own, remains a Muslim in belief and recently made a pilgrimage to Mecca.

There, according to a letter to a friend here, he met blond, blue-eyed fellow worshippers whose attitudes convinced him that some white people—at least those who believe in Allah—can cease measuring others in terms of "their differences in color."

Malcolm, expected to return here May 28 after a tour of Africa, said he felt no racial animosity toward the Islamic whites he met, and he had sensed no hostility on their part.

[redacted] informed CLARA MUHAMMAD that he has not been feeling well and he wanted to know if it was all right if he puts the house in the names of his children. CLARA indicated she would ask ELIJAH MUHAMMAD about that matter. CLARA stated that "He lets these girls have everything just the way they want it and he has everything fixed up very nice just the way that he wants it and he comes back and raises all this trouble about the location where she is supposed to live all this time." CLARA indicated if this keeps up she will set fire to the place. b7C

[redacted] informed the Messenger that he was calling for [redacted]. He stated that they had called the previous day. The Messenger stated that he had told them he would investigate the serious charges that they are making against brother Muslims and then he would call them. ELIJAH stated that it was a very serious thing to make a charge against a brother Muslim and that he, MUHAMMAD, goes by the law and the word as passed down to him in a book given to him personally by Allah. [redacted] indicated "they" would be available at the Messenger's convenience at which time MUHAMMAD told them to contact the [redacted] early on April 24, 1964, at which time they will be told when they have an appointment to see him.

It was also indicated that Brother [redacted] and Brother [redacted] were in Burnside Jail with no substantial charges having been placed against them and that Brother [redacted] desired that something be done about that.

(It is noted that [redacted] and Brother [redacted] were recently expelled from the Temple by [redacted] for accusing some of the Muslim leaders of living too high at the expense of the membership).

April 24, 1964

[redacted] indicated that she had heard that before and the bill has not been paid. She added that she would have to take it to court if he did not pay but that she would expect payment by April 28, 1964.

[redacted] from Los Angeles informed CLARA MUHAMMAD to give [redacted] a message that Boston and Washington, D. C. had renewed their advertising.

ELIJAH MUHAMMAD, in speaking with [redacted] from New York, instructed [redacted] to supply brother [redacted] with 16 ($1,000) until [redacted] gets there on Monday. [redacted] indicated he would take care of the matter.

[redacted] informed CLARA MUHAMMAD that he cannot understand [redacted] (his wife) as he gives her $150 a week and she does not pay bills or anything. He indicated that they presently owe a $154 gas bill and that he had left $200 for her to take care of it. He added that [redacted] complains a lot to him and that he cannot understand her feelings. [redacted] indicated that she has the house and everything in it and that he does not want to have any more to do with the mess. CLARA stated that she thought that [redacted] felt that she should keep the place and take care of her ten children but said that no one can talk to her.

April 27, 1964

[redacted] from Newark informed [redacted] that everything was going fine on the East Coast. He indicated that there were over 600 at the dedication of the Temple last week in Newark and that most of them had been lost-found. He said that there had been 400 out the previous day and that it seems to be the same out there with the other places. He added that prior to the dedication a number of ministers met and listened to [redacted] who gave a very good talk and gave them a lot of good suggestions. He added that they would all like to get together once a month to discuss their various problems and solutions.

April 28, 1964

[redacted] informed [redacted] that CLARA had said that the cops had been there again whereupon [redacted] asked if they got "her" [redacted] (?). It was indicated that [redacted] had brought her someplace, however, [redacted] felt that everything would be all right.

THAT MAN MALCOLM

by Richard Gillum

Born Malcolm Little in Omaha, Neb., in 1925, he knows about survival from the inside. In Lansing, Mich., where his father, a Baptist Minister and follower of black nationalist Marcus Garvey, moved, their house was burned in 1931 by Ku Klux Klansmen, he said. Later, his father was found killed by a street-car and Malcolm was sent to a boy's institution where he made good grades but was told his ambition of becoming a lawyer was unsuitable for Negroes.

He came to New York in 1944 and soon became a Harlem teen-age gangster known as "Big Red" because of his height and copper skin color. Sent to prison in Concord, Mass. in 1947 for burglary, he was converted there to the teachings of Elijah Mohammed and named Malcolm X.

Malcolm's talent for making headlines was shown in his cruel suggestion that the crash of a plane load of Atlanta, Ga. Civic leaders was "divine retribution" and his remark that President John F. Kennedy's assassination was "chickens coming home to roost". This remark resulted in his suspension and ouster as New York leader of the Black Muslims.

Negro rights leaders in the established organizations such as the NAACP scorn him and with just cause. Most Negroes never even heard of the Black Muslims before Malcolm X was interviewed on TV.

"Integration is a pipe-dream" Malcolm X has said. "It is impractical. It makes hypocrites out of white people. The yare for it for somebody else, not themselves."

On his split with Cassius Clay. "I frankly don't believe", he said, "that it is conducive to his image to involve himself in any way with that which takes from his image as a sports figure".

Malcolm says he still follows the back-to-Africa teachings of Mohammed, who preaches Negro "Separation" rather than integration. But Malcolm's new group is drawing support from Mohammed's followers.

He is urging college students who contact him to redirect their attention to the oppressed.

We can't awaken the moral consciousness of America. America has lost all moral consciousness. "Now they must direct all their energy at awakening the dormant interest of the victim by showing him what part politics played in all his misery." Let the Negro know he can keep the man in the White House in the White House, or he can send him back to his Texas cotton patch.

Now from a personal observation, all the Malcolm X's, W's, or Z's, black, blue or green. Muslims are really way off base in many of their beliefs and I will also admit that there is food for thought in some of their teachings, however, for the most part they are so far out in "left-field" they aren't even in the "ballgame".

Without hesitation, I firmly believe the Negro could be his own worst enemy.

Negro Moderation Decried
By Malcolm X in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon, May 1 (AP)—Malcolm X, en route to New York from a pilgrimage to Mecca, charged here yesterday that American Negroes were living in modern slavery and that moderate leaders like Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had done little about it.

Malcolm, a Black Nationalist leader, told students at the Sudanese Cultural Center that Negroes in the United States had made no practical gains toward achieving civil rights. He said that only a minority of Negroes believed in nonviolence.

Re NK airtel 4/23/64 and NY airtel 4/27/64.

On 4/30/64 [redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished notes (located in NK file [redacted] to SA [redacted] regarding a conversation between CHARLES BLACKWELL, Bufile [redacted] and informant reflecting the following:

All Fruit of Islam (FOI) members out "on time" from Muhammad's Mosque (MM) #21, Jersey City, N.J. are being asked to return as members in good standing. BLACKWELL will not return to MM #21 because he cannot remain stagnant any longer. Instructions from MALCOLM X (LITTLE) are being given out on one of the upper floors of the Theresa Hotel in New York, N.Y. when meetings are held. MALCOLM X plans to try to enroll the dissatisfied FOI members and those who are doing "time out". MALCOLM X plans to hold meetings in Jersey City as soon as all operational plans are completed and a hall can be found which could be used to hold meetings. MALCOLM X wants a powerful militant group of soldiers. MALCOLM X wants to start voting and his organization will vote as a block. MALCOLM X wants all types of professional people and he wants thugs and assassins who will do their job with no questions asked.

interview determined that HALE was adamant in his MOI beliefs. During the course of this PSI inquiry, it was determined that HALE and CHARLES ELY were identical.

They also advised that they are keeping HALE under constant daily surveillance until this matter is resolved and this is the source of the information on his visit to the Hotel Theresa and 442 Union Street, Brooklyn.

They also requested that the above details be kept strictly confidential until resolved.

Postpone Malcolm X Home Case

A Queens Civil Court hearing on an attempt by the Muhammad's Temple of Islam, Inc., to evict its former New York minister, Malcolm X, from the home he resides in at 23-11 97th St., East Elmhurst, Queens, was postponed Friday until May 23.

Judge Meyer Tobiasz granted the postponement after Malcolm's lawyer, Percy E. Sutton, informed the court that his client was making a pilgrimage to Mecca, the Muslim holy city, and would not return for another month. Malcolm is also due in Queens Traffic Court on May 2 to answer a traffic charge to which he pleaded innocent last month.

Papers Already Filed In Court

By JAMES BOOKER

As Malcolm X left New York quietly early this week for a month's tour of Africa, members of the New York Black Muslim Mosque, which he formerly headed, were planning to move in Queens Civil Court to evict him from his home at 23-11 97th St., East Elmhurst, the Amsterdam News learned.

Papers filed by Brooklyn Attorney Joseph Williams, in behalf of Muhammad's Temple of Islam, Inc., seeking to evict the fiery Malcolm and his family from the one-family home are returnable in Queens Civil Court on Friday, April 17.

Muslim's House

Sources predicted that the court action might be the beginning of a legal showdown between Malcolm and local Muslims siding with Elijah Muhammad since Malcolm quit the religious group to form his own Muslim Mosque, Inc. last month.

The papers on file in Queens Civil Court contend that the house in which Malcolm and his family reside is owned by Muhammad's Temple of Islam, Inc., and that he had occupied the premises as the minister of the Temple.

The papers allege that the house was purchased for the minister, but that since March 8 when Malcolm formed his own group, his relationship with the Nation of Islam ceased, and no longer is entitled to live in the premises.

The action was filed on March 31 in behalf of Malcolm X. Owens, as secretary of the New York Mosque, against Malcolm X. Little. Malcolm has reportedly engaged Attorney Percy Sutton to fight the eviction attempt.

Prior to leaving for Africa this week Malcolm told the Amsterdam News that he was going "to get spiritual strength" through a visit to the Muslim holy city of Mecca in Egypt.

"I have had tremendous problems in these past few months and I want to get my spiritual self strengthened," he declared.

After his visit to Egypt, Malcolm expects to spend about a month touring several other African countries.

He plans to visit the Sudan, Kenya, Zanzibar, Congo, Nigeria, Ghana and Mali during the month's trip, and will probably write a book on his experiences, he indicated.

"I want to let Africans know how Negroes feel about them and to find out first-hand just how they feel about us," Malcolm said. He said he was given a free ticket as a Muslim convert to Egypt and members of his religious congregation helped to finance the rest of his trip.

Seek Eviction Of Malcolm X

Malcolm X, who walked out of the Black Muslim movement, may soon be walking out of his East Elmhurst, Queens, home permanently if his former congregation has its way.

Muhammad's Temple of Islam Inc., which claims it bought the home, at 23-11 97th St., for its former minister, has filed suit in Queens Civil Court to evict him from the house. The congregation claims that since he publicly renounced the movement he is no longer entitled to occupy the house.

In a specific denial filed by his attorney, Percy Sutton, Malcolm X claims the house was bought, not by the congregation, but by other supporters and that his possession of it was not contingent on his continuing his ministry.

Order Church Doors Opened To Malcolm X

DETROIT, Michigan — Despite Greater King Solomon Baptist Church's attempt to effect a cancellation, officials of GOAL were awarded an injunction in Circuit Court Monday permitting them to meet at the church and to present Malcolm X as principal speaker on Sunday.

It was ordered that a contract between GOAL and the minister of the church, the Rev. T. B. Boone would have to be honored.

The Rev. Boone cancelled the contract after fellow ministers urged him to refuse to honor a contract he signed with the organization.

A second petition calling for a charge of criminal conspiracy against the ministers who sought to have the contract cancelled was refused by the court.

The meeting is to be held in behalf of the Legal Fund of the organization. Richard Henry is the president.

Muslim Leader Off To Africa

NEW YORK — Black nationalist leader, Brother Malcolm, who said the United States needs an organization like the Mau Mau terrorists of Kenya left the country recently for a three-week tour of Africa, a spokesman for the Muslim Mosque, Inc., said.

Another spokesman in Chicago, Aaron Berlin of John Golden Productions, who handles publicity for most of Malcolm's appearances, said the Muslim leader is to tour several countries in East Africa and the Middle East.

Malcolm made his Mau Mau statement in an address to his followers here, during which he endorsed a planned automobile "stall-in" demonstration, initiated by New York Congress of Racial Equality, at the opening of the New York World's Fair, April 22.

Re: Communist Party, United States
of America - Negro Question
Communist Influence In Racial Matters
Internal Security - C

"The Rockland County Journal-News", a daily newspaper in Nyack, New York, April 10, 1954 issue, contains an article captioned, "Red Desire to Submerge Civil Rights Goal Seen". The article reports the appearance of Bayard Rustin at a meeting of the National Council of the Fellowship of Reconciliation at its Upper Nyack branch headquarters, on April 9, 1954.

According to the article, Rustin announced that a meeting of national civil rights leaders is being sought by A. Phillip Randolph (President, Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, American Federation of Labor - Congress of Industrial Organizations), to discuss the emergence of Malcolm X's philosophy, white taxpayers groups and the influence of totalitarian groups within the Negro movement.

According to the article, Rustin remarked that "he (Randolph) hopes they will inform him when they can appear".

Rustin referred to Communist infiltration when he said, "as (the Negro revolt) moves North a group of Communists move in, partially out of a vacuum and a need for new organization", the article notes.

"I am opposed to the Communist movement. There is no ultimate principle or position in their movement", Rustin told reporters after his address. Rustin said he learned first-hand of the Communists desire to submerge the goal of social justice as a former member of the "Youth Communist League" before and after the end of World War II.

Re: Communist Party, United States

Rustin also discussed the possibility of a fast in Washington by the Reverend Martin Luther King in protest of the Senate's handling of the controversial civil rights bill. Revealing that King was "definitely interested" in the move, Rustin said "no single act would be better". He said it would do more than a million letters could.

The article notes that Rustin was sharply critical of Reverend Milton A. Galamison (Chairman, Citywide Committee for Integrated Schools), stating that he does not care about negotiations; that he makes decisions without consulting anybody.

Rustin predicted that the masses of Negroes would never follow Malcolm X because of his program and methods.

Of the rights struggle, Rustin said it could not be successful until the churches, labor unions and other groups realize that the Negro situation is part of the whole sphere of social problems affecting the nation. He pointed to the millions of impoverished people, automation and unemployment. "They must speak out vigorously demanding public assistance and public works. The government has the moral obligation to put people back to work if the private sector of the economy can't", Rustin declared.

The "New York Herald Tribune" issue of August 14, 1963, page 7, column 1, contains an article captioned "Thurmond Assails A Leader of March". The article stated that, in answer to charges by Senator Strom Thurmond, Bayard Rustin admitted joining the Young Communist League (YCL) in 1936. Rustin also reportedly stated that he broke completely with the YCL in June, 1941.

The YCL has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Re: Communist Party, United States
of America - Negro Question
Communist Influence In Racial Matters
Internal Security - C

The "Daily Worker", issue of February 25, 1957, page 1, column 1, contained an article which stated that Bayard Rustin, Executive Secretary, War Resisters League, was one of eight non-Communist observers at the Communist Party National Convention in 1957.

The "Daily Worker" was an East Coast Communist newspaper which suspended publication on January 13, 1958.

On March 12, 1964, Malcolm X Little publicly announced the formation of Muslim Mosque, Inc., the philosophy of which will be black nationalism.

Malcolm X, Incorporated
Internal Security - Miscellaneous

On April 13, 1964, NY 7-1, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Malcolm X, Incorporated (MXI) held an open public rally attended by an estimated 550 persons on April 12, 1964, from 8:15 p.m. to 10:30 p.m., in the Audubon Ballroom, Broadway and 166th Street, New York, New York. The featured speaker was MXI founder and leader, Malcolm X Little.

On March 12, 1964, Malcolm X Little publicly announced the formation of the Malcolm X, Incorporated, the philosophy of which will be black nationalism.

According to NY 7-1, Malcolm X spoke on the plight of the Negro in America, and urged that the complete separation of the races was the only solution to the Negro problem. He spoke at length on the slave background of American Negroes, and appealed to the audience to support black nationalism in order to gain social, political and economic control of their own society.

NY 7-1 advised that Malcolm X also stated that he endorsed the "seal in" proposed by the Brooklyn Chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, which will seal and tie traffic around the New York World's Fair on opening day, April 22, 1964.

The April 13, 1964 edition of the "Daily News", a daily newspaper published in New York, New York, on page 6, quoted Malcolm X as saying at the above NYI meeting: "We have lots of Nku Nku here. The Nku Nku were the greatest people in Africa, the greatest freedom fighters in Africa." The article went on to describe the Nku Nku as a secret terrorist society which used murder and torture in its attempt to drive the whites from Kenya, Africa.

NY T-1 also advised that at the above NYI meeting, Malcolm X introduced to the audience Gloria Richardson, Negro civil rights leader from Cambridge, Maryland, and Jesse Gray, leader of the Harlem Community Council on Housing which is conducting rent strikes in Harlem, both of whom were at the rally.

[Jesse Gray] qu

NY T-2, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on 11/20/58, that Jesse Gray had been the organizer for the Harlem Region of the Communist Party, United States of America (CP USA); but this position terminated during November, 1958 qu

One Day After

JAMES A. WECHSLER

The other night I found myself in a meeting hall on W. 52d St. listening to Malcolm X recite his own brand of separatism and renew his war against all "white liberals," including the late Eleanor Roosevelt. All things being possible in this muddled world he was speaking under the auspices of the Militant Labor Forum, a unit of the Socialist Workers Party, which is a small left-wing cult dedicated to the doctrine of Leon Trotsky's infallibility. The palship of Malcolm and the Trotskyites is surely grotesque new proof that politics can arrange ludicrous ascriptions.

It was Malcolm's misfortune and mine that I had chosen that night to hear him because, about 30 hours earlier, a 26-year-old white Cleveland minister named Bruce Klunder had been crushed under a bulldozer while participating in a CORE protest at a school construction site. It was a poor night to digest Malcolm's glib, indiscriminate assault on all species of white liberalism.

I listened patiently to his standard lecture and perhaps naively waited for some reference to the Cleveland tragedy. There was none. He was saying everything he had said many times before—that strange compound of legitimate outrage over Negro indignities and cynical distortion of human and political truth. "A Dixiecrat is nothing but a Democrat in disguise . . . Show me a Dixiecrat and I'll show you a Democrat."

The meeting also happened to occur on the day after Alabama's racist rabble-rouser had rolled up 250,000 votes in Wisconsin by crusading against Lyndon Johnson's civil rights bill. That event, too, was unnoticed by Malcolm, who drew chuckles and cheers when he dismissed the Johnson Administration as "that cracker government." Take that, Governor Wallace.

To one still troubled by young Rev. Klunder's death, Malcolm's familiar racism had an unusually exasperating tone. And so, when he had finished his oration and began to preside over his own question period, the impulse to ask him whether he had any word of eulogy for the fallen minister became irresistible.

He had said earlier that he had "never met an honest white liberal." I asked him whether, in view of that statement, he would care to say anything about Rev. Klunder's death. His answer was angry and contemptuous. "We're not going to stand up and applaud one white person when 22,000,000 American Negroes are being tortured," he cried.

Then, as if the sound of his own words had slightly troubled him (I hope), he added: "All right: Hurray! Hurray! Hurray!" But he quickly catalogued the Negroes who had died under fire as adequate reason for his indifference to Rev. Klunder's fate.

Malcolm's own followers, who comprised only a small fragment of the audience of about 800, responded warmly; so did many of the young (and a few of the older) Trotskyist intellectuals who have apparently found in Malcolm the congenial "mass leader" of whom they have dreamed in their political isolation ward.

I thought morosely that Malcolm's cruel last rites had now been administered to Rev. Klunder; then Will Lipson, a gentle, gray-haired man rose in the rear of the hall and tried to touch Malcolm's conscience. He began by asking whether he might "call Malcolm brother in the name of humanity," and was granted permission; then he proposed that the audience rise for one moment in honor of a minister whose death was the "symbol of the conscience" of many white Americans.

Malcolm's response was another icy tirade. He would never "use any energy applauding the sacrifice of an individual white man" in a world in which the Negro is so badly misused.

Malcolm's poise seemed jarred on only two occasions. One was when he was asked his position on school integration. After some floundering, he declared that integration had never worked and that he would look favorably on all-black schools "controlled by us." Unquestionably the Parents and Taxpayers Assn. would welcome that formula. The other was when one of the more erudite Marxists tried to engage him in an esoteric theoretical exchange. Malcolm professed a larger familiarity with Spengler than with Marx, a heresy for which the Trotskyist brethren manifested genial tolerance.

There are those who have argued that, regardless of his separatist incitements, Malcolm serves an authentic function. His presence provides weapons for those civil rights leaders who are living in the real world, his shadow strengthens their case.

But the larger truth is the tragedy of the spectacle he presents—a man of many gifts squandering himself in a dead-end venture, and being encouraged in his folly by the managers of an obsolete left-wing sect. I have tried to understand him, and refrain from burlesquing him (although I suspect he sometimes sees the cosmic joke in his own role). But when he turned his back on the dead Cleveland minister who perished with a vision of human fraternity far nobler than any separatist gospel Malcolm finally and totally lost me.

ELIJAH MUHAMMAD received a letter which was critical of his treatment of MALCOLM and then it mentioned that the Honorable ELIJAH MUHAMMAD was not so honorable with his activities with a certain secretary. He wondered what they meant by activities with a secretary. He started to prepare a reply to this letter and then decided against it and then commented to let them talk as it is written that things like this will take place and that they even talked about Jesus. He then referred to MALCOLM as Judas at the Last Supper.

Malcolm Says U. S. Needs A Mau Mau Movement

The U. S. needs a Mau Mau movement, Black Nationalist leader Malcolm X told his followers last night.

"We need a Mau Mau here," the former Black Muslim said. "The Mau Mau were the greatest people in Africa, the greatest freedom fighters in Africa."

The Mau Mau was a secret terrorist organization in Kenya formed to drive the white man out of the country. Malcolm made his remarks at the third weekly meeting of his group at the Audobon Ballroom, Broadway and 166th St.

He said later that he was leaving the country on a three-week tour of Africa but refused to disclose his itinerary.

Malcolm X's autobiography, written by author Alex Haley, due out in May. Malcolm, whose close friendship with Cassius Clay hasn't ceased, is reportedly planning a trip to Africa soon. Incidentally, both Malcolm and Cassius have the same lawyer, Edward Jacko, and the same agent, C. B. Atkins, handling aspects of their activities...

Organize Rifle Club In Ohio

Malcolm X On The Scene

(Special to the Amsterdam News)

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Malcolm X, black Muslim leader, took the radio waves at the height of rioting in Cleveland Tuesday night and advised Negroes to fight back as Cleveland went through the worst racial disturbance in its history following the crushing to death of a white Presbyterian minister by a bulldozer.

In addition to Malcolm X being in town when the minister was killed, Cleveland police were further worried by the formation of a Negro Rifle Club. The club was formed by a City employee, Louis Robinson.

Malcolm X had come here to speak at a rally at the Cory Methodist Church prior to the rioting. He was on a program with author Louis Lomax and the meeting drew a crowd of 2,000.

Malcolm was broadcasting on the air in a radio interview when word came of the rioting and the threat that police were planning to use water hoses against the demonstrators.

afternoon when a bulldozer backing up to avoid three civil rights demonstrators who had hurled themselves in front of it, ran over his body.

The driver, who was later released by police, claimed that he was unaware that the minister was behind his bulldozer.

Rev. Klunder and a large crowd of Negro and white demonstrators had gone to the site of a new school in the predominately Negro area to protest its construction charging that it would be a segregated school.

A few moments before his death he had said this to newsmen: "We are dedicated and committed to continue and we will not stop short of having the school board revise its plans. This can be done by placing our bodies between the workers and their work," Rev. Klunder said.

Moments later, however, he paid the supreme sacrifice which touched off nearly seven hours of riots and street disorders with over 3,500 persons, nearly all Negroes, protesting his tragic death.

Protest To Grow

Civil rights leaders here vowed that Rev. Klunder's death would only increase demonstrations in protest to building the school in the segregated area. National CORE officials announced that they would send in top national officials to assist in staging daily demonstrations at the construction site. James Farmer is due to join demonstrators Thursday.

Ironically, Mayor Ralph Locker, who attends the church where Rev. Klunder was an assistant pastor, disclosed that a ten foot high wall would be built around the construction and the city would seek an injunction against trespassers.

A year ago this month another white CORE member, Baltimore postman William Moore, was murdered from ambush as he walked in Alabama. His alleged killer was later acquitted.

Wife In Plea

Rev. Klunder's wife pleaded late Tuesday with protesters not to try to avenge her husband's death. A few moments before the minister's death, police had pulled four demonstrators away from a cement mixer and arrested them.

Several persons who watched the death of Rev. Klunder hurled bottles and rocks at the driver of the bulldozer, John White, also white, and he reportedly lost several teeth as he was beaten before police rescued him. Rioting which followed the minister's death led to 13 persons being injured and 20 arrests before the crowds broke up late Tuesday night, with promises of more demonstrations later this week.

And Then This

the youth leaps from the death vehicle as cop pursues. At lower left, the new Negro's show of defiance as the cop moves in and finally, lower right, hauls him away.
